Research report looks at technology and innovation

We commissioned Thinks Insight & Strategy to conduct independent research into how small firms and sole practitioners use technology, their views on innovation and the support that they would most value.

Innovation events in 2025

This year we held free innovation events in Leeds and Birmingham. Both events included panel discussions featuring experts in tech and AI, as well as from law firms adopting technology in their businesses.

Innovate at Legal Geek

Look out for our team at UK Legal Geek events this year. In June we joined 1,000 SME and mid-size law firms for Legal Geek Growth. We will also be speaking at Legal Geek's two-day conference in October.

Report looks at pros and cons of AI in law firms

The Risk Outlook series [https://guidance.sra.org.uk/sra/research-publications/artificial-intelligence-legal-market/] looks at how AI is impacting the legal services sector. The report outlines current and potential future developments, and what firms may need to think about in each area to help them assess if and how they might be affected.

Solving legal issues through technology

Following a grant from the Regulators Pioneer Fund (RPF3) we are exploring how online dispute resolution can help tackle the unmet legal need of individuals, consumers and small/ medium-sized enterprises. The project began in November 2023 and will complete in May 2025.
